

CONFIDENTIALCHUNG KUNG JEN WU

Table of Contents

1. Mao Tse-tung, Man of the Era
2. The Origin of Chou En-lai's Distinguished Name
3. "Chiang Ch'ing," First Lady of the Red Capital [Mao's fourth wife, Yan P'ing]
4. P'eng Te-huai Is Not Interested in Women
5. Ho Lung's "Two and A Half Rifles"
6. Pan Ch'ang-chiang, the Man and His Writings
7. Ho Chih-chien [Mao's Third Wife], Devoted Wife and Mother
8. Su Yu, Always Victorious General
9. Ch'en Yi, the Poet
10. Hsiao K'uo, Young Military Leader
11. Mao An-yang, "Little Red Devil" [Mao's son]
12. Hsu Hsi-bung, A Price on His Head
13. Yang Hsi-shai, Notorious Communist Leader
14. Chu Te Holds the Military Reins
15. Hsu Hsiang-ch'ien Likes Short-cuts
16. Yeh Chien-ying Discards the Sword for the Pen
17. Tseng Sheng [wins fame in South Kwangtung] [Contents lists Tseng Sheng, but article uses Tseng Shan. Two such individuals exist; facts of article, however, correlate with available data concerning Tseng Sheng]
18. The Story of Wang Chen's Huge Clock
19. Liu Po-ch'eng, "One-eyed Dragon"
20. Wei Kung-chih, Wife of Yeh Chien-ying
21. Liao Ch'eng-chih and His Mother

CONFIDENTIAL